

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the specification paragraph that begins at line 27 of pg. 5 as follows:

As noted previously, the plurality of elements 332, including geometric objects, which may be substantially similar, included in the unitary, substantially uniformly distributed transfer material 310 may form a portion of a mesh and be distributed in a substantially repeating pattern. A plurality of connecting elements 336 may be used to couple the plurality of elements 332 included in the unitary, substantially uniformly distributed transfer material 310 to each other. The substantially repeating pattern may comprise a parallel pattern, including a grid pattern.